HOW TO GET READY FOR THE SHOWS PREPARING BIRDS FOR EXHIBITION

Proper Care Necessary to Secure the Prizes.

Many Easy Methods of Preparation That Will Help the Amateur.

Exhibitors of poultry at the shows hould take as much pains in preparing beir birds as the horse lover does it are many apparently small blogs that, when done, add immensely show qualities of the bird. Careessness has cost many a blue ribbon.

Care of the plumage, washing the legs, bandling the bird carefully so that it will not scare, will go far toward making a good impression on the judges. The following article will be of help to

EXHIBITORS.

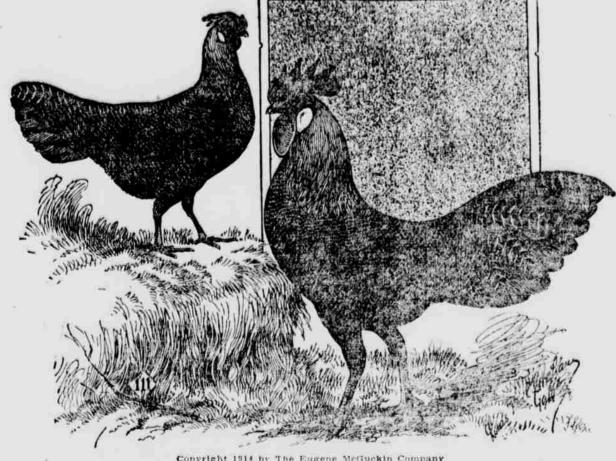

If a breeder does not give a little attention to preparing his birds for the show, he cannot expect to get the same results as the breeder who does. A bird picked up right out of the yards, without having received any special fitting, can always be improved in some ways.

The coat may not make the man, but fine feathers and stylish carriage cortainly make the show bird, and this can controlled to a certain extent. White
